Organization Background

The Museum at Eldridge Street, a non-sectarian cultural organization in Lower Manhattan, was founded with a mission to restore and interpret its home, the historic Eldridge Street Synagogue, and serve people of all backgrounds with educational and cultural programs inspired by the landmark building and Lower East Side neighborhood. Built in 1887, the building is an architectural marvel and a symbol of immigrant aspirations realized. It is the first grand synagogue purpose-built by Eastern European Jewish immigrants in the United States, and was nearly lost to neglect before the Museum’s 20-year, $20 million restoration project returned the space to glory and public use. Visitors are welcome to tour the National Historic Landmark and learn about its time as a cultural hotspot in the bustling Jewish Lower East Side, to its decades of decay, to its miraculous rebirth as a 21st-century Museum.
